Diploma in Aged Care & Community Support

OVERVIEW

Make a difference in the aged care community

Take a community support worker course to work towards a meaningful role in caregiving in a home or community setting. Learn solution-focused community support counselling techniques, understand ways seniors can adapt to change, and how to communicate around grief and loss effectively. Our aged care courses cover enablement approaches useful in a registered home care facility environment and examine ways you might help seniors retain their quality of life and successfully complete rehabilitation – study ways to care for the aged from home with The Career Academy. Enrol today to provide community support services for the aged.
